NOVEMBER ELECTION USHERS IN CITY COUNCIL CHANGES

The Walnut Creek City Council has welcomed a new member with the election of Matt Francois to an open seat on the Council. Francois was administered the Oath of Office on December 4, along with newly re-elected Councilmember Cindy Silva.

The Council elected Silva to serve as the new Mayor as well, with Councilmember Loella Haskew taking over as Mayor Pro Tem. Councilmembers said thank you to retiring Councilmember Rich Carlston, who decided not to run for re-election this year. City Treasurer Ron Cassano was also elected to his post for another term in office.

SPOTLIGHT SHINES AGAIN ON WALNUT CREEK

As you set up your 2019 calendar, consider making time to join in the fun of the 2nd Saturday Spotlight. Each month, the City will shine a spotlight on a local non-profit, and community members will be invited to join for a morning tour, and gain insights into the work of the organization. The tour will continue through the surrounding neighborhoods, where community connections are made in Walnut Creek.

Stay tuned as 2nd Saturday Spotlight locations are announced later this month for January and February tours, and find out how you can be a part of this re-boot of a Walnut Creek tradition.

HOLIDAY CLOSURES

Most City offices will be closed for the winter holidays beginning on Monday, December 24, and reopening on Wednesday, January 2. City Hall public counters will be closed on December 21. Public safety services will continue to be available. For a comprehensive list of what is open or closed, visit the City's website at walnut-creek.org.

Look up the next time you're towards the Leshner Center for the Arts and experience the City's newest public art project!

Get details inside on page 2 about this unique downtown mural.

Text to 911: Another way to reach us in an emergency

Call if you can, text if you can't!

Walnut Creek Police Department's Communications Center is now able to receive text messages to the 911 emergency system. While this is an important enhancement, it is critical to note that this should not be your first approach for reaching our dispatchers. A voice call to 911 in an emergency is always the best way to reach the Department. However, if you are in a situation where it is unsafe to speak, or if you cannot call because of a hearing or speech impairment, this is an important new tool.

To send a text message to our 911 team, enter the numbers 911 in the "To" field of a new text message. The body of the text should include the exact location of the emergency, and if you need police, fire or an ambulance to respond. Please do not send photos, videos or any other information unless prompted, and keep your texts short and simple.

It is also important to keep in mind that 911 is for true emergencies only. Many Bay Area law enforcement agencies are noticing an increase in the number of callers using the 911 system for a variety of customer service issues. Every time a 911 line is tied-up with a non-emergency call, a dispatcher's attention is being diverted away from someone who may be calling with a life or death scenario. If you do call 911 by mistake, do not hang up; stay on the line and let the dispatcher know so that an officer is not dispatched to your location.

Take time to program other important non-emergency numbers into your phone. The Police Department non-emergency number is 925-935-6400, and the Police Records number is 925-943-5890.

WALNUT CREEK DEBUTS NEW MURAL

Kristin Farr, West Coast Barn Quilt, 2018, acrylic paint on DiBond panels, 28 x 16 ft.

The City of Walnut Creek is pleased to announce the completion of a major work of public art by Bay Area artist Kristin Farr. Prominently located on an exterior wall of the Leshner Center for the Arts, overlooking the plaza at the intersection of Locust Street and Civic Drive in downtown Walnut Creek, this vividly hued mural is titled West Coast Barn Quilt.

The mural was hand-painted on site by Farr using no masking tape or straight-edge tools. With Farr's mural, the City of Walnut Creek is inaugurating a program to create murals on publicly visible walls throughout the downtown area. Farr's mural will be displayed for up to five years before a new mural concept is solicited from artists.

GET YOUR SKATE ON!

BEDFORD GALLERY

Altered States

January 13 – March 24 2019
Opening Reception:
Sunday, January 13, 3 – 5 pm

Guest curated by Heather Marx, Altered States features artists across generations living and working along the California coast who harness natural elements or the environment to create their artwork. The artists work in a wide range of media and share a passion for creating art that is about process and reclamation. This exhibition highlights the natural cycles of our complex environment and offers patrons an opportunity to slow down and reflect on how we are all interconnected by the sun, mood, air, and tides. Heads-up to parents and teachers: school tours are almost sold out!

Become a gallery volunteer today!

There are so many ways to get involved with Bedford Gallery! Gallery Docents are trained to lead tour groups; Guild Members provide hospitality and information to visitors; and Gallery Interns serve as administrative or curatorial aides. Volunteering at the Bedford is fun and provides an opportunity to make friends, learn about art, and help foster love of the arts in our community.

To learn more visit bedfordgallery.org/support/volunteer

Calling all teachers and parents: check out Bedford Gallery's School Tours!

Over 3,000 students visit Bedford Gallery each year. The gallery's talented volunteer Docents lead Gallery school tours that are completed with a stimulating art project pertaining to the current exhibit. Bedford Gallery welcomes school groups from grades K-12, as well as scout troops, camps, clubs and other youth groups. Tours for adult groups are available too. Many thanks the Diablo Regional Arts Association for generously funding school tours for all schools in Contra Costa County!

Learn more about Bedford Gallery tours at www.bedfordgallery.org/education-tours.

A vision for the Iron Horse Trail

Contra Costa County wants to know what you think about the Iron Horse Trail! The County is studying this 18-mile bicycle and pedestrian backbone that runs from Concord to Dublin, travelling right through the heart of Walnut Creek.

The goals of this study are to:

1. Improve trail safety;
2. Evaluate different forms of transportation allowed on the trail;
3. Improve access to the trail and its intersections with streets; and
4. Build a shared vision with the community to guide future decisions regarding trail infrastructure.

Visit www.cccounty.us/IHCStudy to get involved and have your voice heard.

CORE: A SUCCESSFUL COLLABORATION IN ADDRESSING HOMELESSNESS

Recognizing that traditional approaches to ending homelessness only work for some individuals, a recent effort to target the most high-risk, hard-to-reach, chronically homeless people is paying off. The City of Walnut Creek is a partner in the program. The Coordinated Outreach Referral, Engagement (CORE) program addresses homeless individuals, youth, and families living outside who typically don't access services, or don't know how to access services. CORE uses a client-centered, "whatever it takes" approach to build rapport, engage consumers into services that aims to get them off the streets and stabilized.

Launched in 2017, CORE serves as one of three entry points into Contra Costa's Coordinated Entry System bringing services and resources directly to individuals living outside. Utilizing evidence-based practices in their work, CORE teams employ a social case management model to progressively engage individuals and families sleeping on the streets, in vehicles, and in encampments. Each CORE team is comprised of two people trained in motivational interviewing, non-violent crisis intervention, CPR, and the administration of Narcan. Walnut Creek will continue to update residents on the CORE team efforts.

BRINGING AFFORDABLE HOUSING INFO ON THE ROAD

The need for affordable housing in Walnut Creek continues to be significant, and City Hall is not waiting for those in need to come find us. The City has undertaken a very active outreach and education campaign, and you'll often see representatives from the Housing Division at community events. Information booths have been on hand at August's First Wednesday,

HIGHLIGHTS OF YEAR ONE, July 2017 – June 2018

- The CORE Team holds a seat on the Walnut Creek Homeless Taskforce to keep on top of homeless issues that arise in the City.
- CORE communicates with WC police dispatch on a daily basis and responds to calls involving homelessness. This frees up law enforcement to work on criminal issues the city may be experiencing.
- CORE meets monthly with Lieutenant Conley of the Walnut Creek PD to discuss hotspots and provide a coordinated approach to city issues.
- CORE works in collaboration with the Trinity Center to provide comprehensive case management services to people experiencing homelessness.
- CORE took part in a community forum to answer any questions the residents of the city may have had surrounding homelessness and the steps the city was taking to combat the issues.

CORE BY THE NUMBERS

- 247 Unduplicated people served with 646 contacts made
- 90% Living in places not meant for habitation
- 67% Reported to having disabling conditions
- 21% Over the age of 60
- 15% Survivors of domestic violence
- 38% Homeless over 5 years
- 13% People placed in a shelter
- 52% Placed in the warming center

Oktoberfest, the Diablo Valley Farmers' Market at Shadelands and the Locust Farmers' Market. For more information about housing programs and policies, please visit the City's website and search "housing." One of the City Council's priorities is to increase the availability and affordability of housing, and our outreach efforts will continue in 2019.

Artwork gives BigBelly bins a new look

Among the dozens of successful projects completed during October's Community Service Day was a facelift for many of the BigBelly solar compacting trash and recycling bins located downtown. Volunteers installed recycling-themed artwork on the bins.

The designs had been selected by Walnut Creek Downtown through a call for artists and a selection panel. In addition, Public Works staff replaced the front sticker on the bins with new recycling signs that make it easier to know what can go into the recycling bins.

Mountain Shadow Film Society

Applications are now being accepted for new members in the Mountain Shadow Film Society, the Walnut Creek non-profit entity that brings in the best in award-winning foreign and independent films otherwise unavailable in our area.

The Society launches its sixth season in January, with weekend evening screenings held four times each month in the Walnut Creek Library. The society has grown to more than 500 members; for information visit <http://mountainshadow.org>.

HOW TO MAKE YOUR HOLIDAYS GREEN

Making sustainable choices when decorating, entertaining, and giving gifts to family and friends helps the environment and can save money during the holiday season. American household waste increases sharply between Thanksgiving and New Year's Eve – as much as a 25 percent increase by some estimates. Here are some easy tips to make your holidays green!

DECORATIONS

- Use LED light strings, such as ENERGY STAR brands that can use 70% less energy than traditional bulbs, or consider using few or no lights.
- Put indoor and outdoor decorative lights on a timer.
- Decorate with items that are reusable year after year, or can be composted or recycled.
- Think before you "flock." Flocked holiday trees are treated and can't be composted; they will go to the landfill.

ENTERTAINING

- Give your table an elegant look by using reusable cloth napkins and tableware that can be washed. When using disposable items, make sure they can be recycled or composted.
- Encourage guests to bring containers to take home leftovers and reduce food waste.
- Compost any uneaten food in your green organics cart.
- Plan meals that have a low carbon footprint. Buy food that is local and in season. Recipes that replace beef, which has the highest carbon footprint per serving, with chicken or vegetables will have a lower carbon footprint.

GIFTS

- Look for holiday cards made from recycled paper, and cards that can be easily recycled after being read. Or, send electronic cards to help cut down on postage and transportation.
- Wrapping paper is often used once and then thrown away. Get creative with wrapping by re-using paper you already have from magazines or newspapers, cloth, or reusable boxes or baskets. Gift bags, cloth ribbons, and bows can be saved and reused.
- Give gifts that are durable, recyclable, made of natural materials, or are energy efficient.
- Give the gift of an experience, like tickets to a show or a cooking class, to reduce waste and packaging.

Contra Costa Chamber Orchestra at Lesh Center

Mark your calendars for Sunday, February 17, when internationally-acclaimed pianist Jeffrey LaDuer joins the Contra Costa Chamber Orchestra as part of its production, "Let's Dance." He will perform Franz Liszt's exhilarating Totentanz with the orchestra. The orchestra's new conductor, Chad Goodman, has been hailed by Forbes as an "entrepreneur bringing innovation to classical music." Throughout the program, he will engage the audience by sharing fascinating background information on the composers and their work. Find out more at ContraCostaChamberOrchestra.org.

Lime Ridge Fire Recovery

Last summer's fire in the Central Lime Ridge Open Space has given way to work encouraging regrowth and restoration. The best practice after a fire is to allow the land to restore itself using soil nutrients and seed base that is present onsite. In order to allow that to happen, the soil has to be kept in place, without people walking on it. Over the winter, you will see sloped areas of the fire-scored land in Central Lime Ridge covered with a green substance; this is hydro-mulching, which helps hold the soil in place. The green dye helps crews see where it has already been spread. There is no seed in the mix; it is a slurry made of water, wood fiber mulch and a natural solution to help it adhere to the ground and protect the soil from wind and water erosion. Check back in Central Lime Ridge in the spring to see what progress has been made!

Winter shelter for homeless begins 2nd year at Walnut Creek Armory

A $100,000 City grant has enabled a winter shelter program to begin operating at the Walnut Creek Armory, where 25 Trinity Center members will have a warm place to sleep through March 29, 2019. The temporary shelter program does more than provide a place to sleep during the coldest months. Participants must apply and work in collaboration with Trinity Center staff towards a goal. Community support is also vital; volunteers provide much-needed supplies for the program, and plan to serve a holiday dinner to the shelter residents on Christmas Day. Republic Services is providing containers for members to store personal items overnight. The Walnut Creek Police Department will also have established, regular visits. Additional community support is always welcome. For questions or comments, contact Pam McGrath, Evening Program Manager, at pamm@trinitycenterwc.org.

IN THE AFTERMATH OF TRAGEDY: HELPING OUR NEIGHBORS TO THE NORTH

JUST A YEAR AGO, Walnut Creek residents were opening their hearts to victims of the North Bay fires, and finding ways to help. This year, the devastation from Butte County's Camp Fire is almost impossible to imagine. The smoke from the deadly and destructive fire blanketed most of the bay area for days, causing inconvenience and daily routine disruption. Dozens of lives were lost and thousands permanently changed in the areas impacted by fire, though. To find out how you can best help those affected, visit the Butte County website established to help victims, provide information and resources, and guide those who want to contribute to the rebuilding of lives and property. Visit ButteCountyRecovers.org to see how you can help.

As always, it is important to make sure you can get emergency information if disaster strikes close to home. The City of Walnut Creek utilizes social media, including Twitter, Facebook and Nextdoor to communicate with residents. To ensure you are notified in the event of an emergency in Walnut Creek, sign up for Nixle alerts through the City and City Police Department. You can text your zip code to 888777 to opt-in for alerts, or visit Nixle.com to find out more about how you can receive information from local agencies.

8th Graders Visit Italy and Hungary

Walnut Creek Sister Cities International opens doors for local youth in ways they can never imagine. The Youth Ambassador Exchange program sends students to visit one of our sister cities: Noceto, in Italy, and Siófok, in Hungary.

Last fall, 26 eighth graders and chaperones left for a ten-day adventure of a lifetime. They experienced day to day life in their assigned cities, soaking up the rich culture and sights, gaining travel experience and a sense of independence. The students brought back tales of their journey to the City Council, impressing members with their knowledge and stories. In April, ambassadors and families will host delegations of students from Noceto and Siófok, conveying the program's motto of promoting peace through mutual respect, understanding and cooperation – one individual, one community at a time.

This year's Walnut Creek 7th graders interested in applying to be an ambassador for the 2019-2020 exchange must attend a meeting on January 6 at the Walnut Creek Library. For information, visit wcsci.org.

PARKING RELIEF AT WALNUT CREEK BART ON THE WAY

The construction that has been a staple at the Walnut Creek BART station moves into a new phase soon, as the new South Garage will open in early 2019. The New South Garage is privately owned and operated, and will be exclusively for BART parking. Although the New South Garage is increasing parking capacity at the station overall, early next year, the north and east surface lots will be permanently closed. Approximately 600 daily fee parking spaces will be converted to monthly spaces in the New South Garage; those will not be replaced. Reservations for monthly spots are being taken now, and are expected to sell out quickly. For questions or comments, please contact SP+ parking at parkinginfo@wcbartparking.com or 510-928-2032.

OUT WITH THE OLD, IN WITH THE NEW: IMPROVED PARKING METERS

City-operated parking meters are about to get an overhaul, as new, easier to use and read meters are coming in early January. Street meters in downtown Walnut Creek are City-operated meters, and the current equipment has met its useful lifespan. Customer feedback has told the City that they are hard to view in sunlight, and that they have limited capacity to work with newer technology.

Installation of new meters will begin the second week in January, and should last for about a week. The rates and time limits will remain the same. The project is funded by the City's Downtown Parking Enterprise and Enhancement Fund, which collects all parking revenue and reinvest it back into Downtown Walnut Creek.

Free Tax Preparation Assistance Available Soon

The 2019 tax season is just around the corner, and help with preparing your returns will also be readily available soon. Help from AARP's Tax-Aide and the United Way's "Earn It, Keep It, Save It" (EKS) programs will be available starting in February.

Both programs serve taxpayers of any age; EKS service is limited to those with incomes below $54,000. AARP membership is not required for Tax-Aide, and there are no income limits. Beginning January 7, get more information by calling 925-726-3199 for Tax-Aide, or calling 2-1-1 for "Earn It, Keep It, Save It."

LEND A HAND ... BEHIND THE WHEEL OF A VAN!

Walnut Creek Recreation's Senior Transportation Program is looking for volunteers to help area seniors get where they need to go. From medical appointments to grocery shopping to events, the Senior Mini Bus provides more than 3,000 rides per year thanks to the volunteer driving team. More drivers and passenger assistants are needed for regular 4-hour weekday shifts. Substitutes are also needed for those wanting a more flexible commitment. Call 925-943-5852 if you can help.

What's your Home Energy Score?

With Home Energy Score, you'll learn if your home sips or guzzles energy, and you'll receive a list of suggestions to it make more efficient and comfortable!
